THERE ARE CRITICS AND CRITICS.

Nowadays there is a great deal said about the woes and hardships of the professional critic—art, literary, dramatic, etc., etc. Taking up one branch of art, that is, picture making, what constitutes a critic? Because a person has a good command of language and ready wit to be on the rush in where angels fear to tread? Not at all. A writer and artist, of some repute has said that the best and most able critics are those who have been through the "mill" to a greater or lesser extent, and who can do the "good points" of a picture, and there are always some good points in any original picture.

Of course we are not thinking of the charlatan, fads and fancies of minds diseased and eyes color blind—or of the simon pure impressionists and the "new" colorists, but of legitimate picture making and pictures.

There are herds of roving animals rushing around and seeking whom they may devour. The good, bad, and indifferent are dissected by them and the public accepts their verdict, thoroughly convinced that the production of brush, pen or pencil—en masse—are "no good" or the reverse.

A man, calling himself an art critic (with a large C) was once asked how he liked the recent purchase of a friend.

The picture, a winter landscape at sunset, with the colors of the same reflected on the snow, leafless trees outlined against the sky, was a very fine bit from the brush of a well known artist.

The friend and would-be critic said, "Call that snow? Why snow is as white as this sheet of paper, and this snow is far from it." Now, that same "art critic" was never more mistaken in his life, for we all know that a small bit of snow is white, but not the pigment white on the paper white, and the mass of snow under the sunset sky is a totally different thing from the piece of snow held in the hand, as in the mass is reflected the cloud shadows and colors. The picture in question had masses of pink clouds, throwing pink reflections on the snow and frozen pools. Fortunately for the owner, she was sufficiently unto herself, and had a good natured laugh over the criticism, for it was quite evident that the critic had never studied the subject.

It reminds one of the famous painter, Turner, who, when showing a gorgeous sunset effect to a possible purchaser had the remark made to him, "Whoever saw such a sunset?" In a pleasant but forcible manner the artist replied, "Don't you wish you could, madam?"

Often on showing a picture just from the easel, our friend the critic, who is given credit for being a profound thinker and analyzer, says "Is that water just the correct color, and is not that man's ear too long?" Or the critic who has picked up a number of phrases from studio chat and talks with much savoir faire of the lack of "atmosphere" or "aerial perspective" still impressing his audience, "And still they gazed and still the wonder grew that one small head could carry all he knew."

Now, a few words of advice. Don't say, "I don't know very much about art, but I know what I like," or "I like cows and sheep better on the table."

Flores Forest Fires.

Milwaukee, Sept. 24.—Flores forest and swamp fires are raging in the northern part of the state. Near Appleton a large swamp fire has burned over an area covering several miles and a number of farms have been swept over. Two farmers at least are known to have lost their homes, and it is reported that the post office at Mackville, near Appleton, has been burned. A number of roads have been made impassable, so that it is a difficult matter to get the facts of the damage. The fire is being fanned by a fierce gale and is spreading. Farmers for miles around are guarding their houses against sparks. There are several small towns which are surrounded by fires, but at present they are not considered in imminent danger.

At Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Jepson will be "at home" Thursday evening, October 3, from 8 to 10 o'clock, at the residence of Prof. Jepson, 52 Howe street.

Funeral of Miss Bronson.

The funeral services of Mary Esther, eldest daughter of ex-Judge Samuel L. Bronson, were held at her residence, 58 Dwight street, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Only the immediate friends of the family were present at the ceremony.

Rev. W. A. Beardsley, rector of St. Thomas church, officiated. The bearers were John Punderford, William Miller, Sidney Holt, Charles Wylie, Charles Cornwall and Milton Bradley. The interment was in the Grove street cemetery.

It is a mechanical arrangement which can be fitted to any piano and which plays any and every composition desired. Mr. Bolze is sole agent in this country for it, and invites the public generally to call at his establishment, 494 State street, and inspect it.

OSCAR WILDE IN COURT.

Brought From Prison to Appear in Bankruptcy Proceedings.

London, Sept. 24.—The examination of Oscar Wilde in bankruptcy proceedings was to have taken place to-day and the convict playwright and author was brought from his prison to the bankruptcy court in a cab.

He was not called to the stand, however, his counsel having stated that Wilde's debts amounted to £3,581. Toward the liquidation of this sum his friends had subscribed £1,500, and the remainder would be made up, so that 20 shillings in the pound would be paid.

W. C. T. W. Meeting.

WHY?

QUESTIONS WOMEN ASK

Here Answered with Good Sound Reason.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

Why do people say that Lydia E. Pinkham's treatment, especially her Vegetable Compound, effects cures beyond the physician's skill?

Because of the fact that a woman best understands a woman's ills. What man ever suffered a single pang like unto woman? Man works from theory only. Why do tens of thousands of women write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., telling their most secret thoughts?

Because they know that their letters go straight to the hands of a woman, who is a woman as made woman's ills, and because she never fails them and cures cases which the doctor cannot.

The lady who asks that the following letter be published, gives concisely the uniform expression of gratitude contained in thousands of other letters in Mrs. Pinkham's possession.

"For eight years I suffered with neuralgia of the womb, backache, severe pains all through my body, and kidney trouble.

None of the doctors did me any good. I took twelve bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and cannot thank you enough for the relief I found.

"I am now well cured of all those pains. I should advise every woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound who has any female trouble. I had a friend who was to go under an operation. I advised her first to try the Compound. She did, and is now so much better and stronger she has given up all thoughts of the operation."—MRS. M. WILDS, 2137 Park St., Tioga, Pa.

ALL THE EVIDENCE NOT IN.

The Result of the Autopsy in the Case of Marks Faber Not Yet Announced—An Important Witness Absent Yesterday.

The investigation concerning the poisoning of Marks Faber, the Hungarian who was poisoned by taking some drug which was sold to him in place of cholera mixture, was continued by Coroner Mix yesterday and several witnesses were called who were with Faber just previous to his death. One witness, Moses Goldberg, who said he directed Faber to Wood's drug store Sunday evening and waited outside while Faber went in and procured the medicine, was in New York yesterday and the coroner cannot complete the investigation until he returns. Medical Examiner White has reported the result of his autopsy to the coroner. The latter said last evening that he could not conscientiously hold either J. P. Wood or William Alpers, the men who were in the store behind the counters early Sunday evening when the medicine was purchased, until he has heard all the evidence. William H. Alpers, Wood's clerk, was subjected to a rigid examination by the coroner yesterday.
